SOME BEAUTY IN AGE

One of the remarkable things about a newspaper entering its 118th year is the loyalty which seems to grow with its longevity.

One of those loyalists died the other day. He was Jessie Wilkerson, 81, whose stories about the early "cotton-town Cameron" we published at intervals in The Herald of the 1960s and early 1970s.

Another was Lloyd Albertson, dead in his 70s, who wrote features and oil stories and who, like Wilkerson, was a published author in metro Texas daily supplements and pulp fiction he wrote under a pseudonymn.

Wilkerson wrote a couple of books, drawing upon his experiences as a "printer's devil" here. Albertson came along while he was in late 50s and wrote features for at least 20 years.

A third fewer people know about who was a "printer's devil" before the turn of the 20th century was an optometrist here who, if living, would be about 100 years old. He was Dr. Gus Evans, Sr.

These older men were contemporary in their outlook about this newspaper, though they may have been more conservative in their years in other things.

But anyone connected with an institution gone modern still finds continuity important.

There is a receipt on The Herald newsroom wall which dates the immediate predecessor Cameron Centinel to April 15, 1861, the month Fort Sumter was fired on and the Civil War began. In this part of Texas, that's old.

A man named E. A. Martin was a subscriber who took out two subscriptions to the Centinel which was obviously already in print. He also charged a wagon notice on the note-receipt acknowledged by a John A. Moore, who apparently owned the Centinel.

The Herald name came along somewhere in the late 1870s. And the variety of owners, editors and publishers has been as broad as the publication is old.

We don't want to go through all that.

This newspaper has quite a past. Since the late 50s The Herald has bracketed this past and "the tomorrowland" no one is quite sure of.

The Thursday Page 1 column traces the annual age of this semi-weekly, the Monday Page 1 column as NOW projects our real image of contemporary reporting and inquiry.

And we are read in most, if not all the states of the Union, all the major cities and most of the smaller ones in Texas, not to mention thousands of households in at least five Central Texas counties ringing Cameron.

The Herald has long since passed from the curious practice of publishing a "Daily Midget" to development of the semi-weekly and its broad area distribution, as well as innovations in computerization and electronics.

In the modern vernacular, The Herald has done "heavy" public service in the city halls, school systems and courthouses of the area. Much of this has invited vehemence and respect that competence in modern journalism acquires.

At times, it is a humbling, vicious, relentless business. But our instincts for the public truth about the public's business allow no alternative but to expose a jugular or two, and even to document a severing once in a while.

We don't enter all the contests which are professional reassurance among newspaperdom that we are properly edited and published to prize-winning specification. The public knows when a publication is effective. Public respect is its highest reward. Readers and advertisers go where there is respect and they are respected.

To all this, through all this and these years, the matter of loyalty surfaces again and again. Not by political, social, religious or fraternal endorsement, but by people endorsement of what's best for people. And we have not yet met anyone who is not a people, a person.

There must be something to this attitude. We are small enough to remember and strong enough to look ahead. Forgive us, person-people, for thrashing about like this.

It may be we are really 1,118 years old, and like Merlin in Camelot, operating backwards, knowing something of the future because we're moving to the past. Anyway, there's wisdom in our youth. And some beauty in age.

Application Due For New Bank In Rockdale

An application will be filed in about ten days with the state banking commission for a new bank in Milam County.

The bank will be known as the Community Bank & Trust Co. of Rockdale.

Spokesman Leroy Caffey of Rockdale listed nine men as directors for the proposed bank: Lynwood Mehaffey, Ernie Miller, Mack Willard, Bill Vogelpohl, Darrell Walker, Pud Owens, and Caffey, all of Rockdale; John B. Henderson Jr. of Cameron; and Oscar Bode of Milano.

Bomb Threat Empties Nat's

A bomb scare emptied Nat's Place of patrons Saturday night but an investigation and search revealed no bomb.

An anonymous phone call to Rockdale police alerted the sheriff's department, DPS troopers, and the Milano constable for the search after the place was evacuated, but they found nothing.

Nat's Place is located on Highway 79 between Milano and Rockdale.

GRISLY EXHIBIT - A dummy in the "hangman's tower" in the old Milam County Jail was one of the attractions of the opening of the Milam County Museum on Saturday and Sunday.

A MUSEUM VISITOR eyes exhibits in one of the cases set up by area towns and communities for the museum opening. About 600 visitors signed the register Saturday and Sunday.

New County Museum Opening Draws 600

The opening of the Milam County Museum was a "grand success," according to commission chairmen Mary Belle Batte and Kay Green. Some 600 persons toured the museum during its official opening on Saturday and Sunday.

The chairmen expressed appreciation to every town and community that prepared exhibits for the opening, including Rockdale, Buckholts, Thorndale, Gause and Milano. A sheriff's exhibit was also collected for the opening.

Batte said most of the exhibits prepared for the opening will be on display for a while, before they are changed.

The museum has hired Mrs. Virginia Schuhsler as aide, and she will be on hand to accept articles for exhibit by loan or gift on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 9 to 5, and on Sundays from 1-4. Those are also the hours for persons to visit the new museum.

Articles for exhibits must meet certain museum guidelines, Batte explained. A short history of the exhibit should also be presented with the article.

Museum officials emphasized that there is a lot of storage room for articles which are safe and secure, and insurance covers the items in the museum.

A drive for members is still underway, and donations may be given to school children who are helping with the drive, or may be sent to D. R. Dodson, 507 E. 8, Cameron.

Flowers Tapped For Caldwell CofC Banquet

In keeping with the expanded activities of the Caldwell Chamber of Commerce over the past two years, Chamber president Glenn Hughes announces the re-activation of an annual banquet to be held on April 7.

This marks the first time since 1956 that the Chamber of Commerce has engaged a speaker and held an annual banquet. The affair will be held at St. Mary's Catholic gym and will be open to the public.

Charlie Flowers, internationally known speaker has been named as guest speaker for the banquet. Flowers makes over 150 talks a year all over the country, and has appeared in Australia and Jamaica. Flowers gives a humorous address, and leaves his audience with some serious thoughts, too.

Tickets for the Caldwell banquet are on sale now at $4.50 each and all tickets will be pre-sold by April 4. Tickets are available at the First State Bank, Caldwell National Bank, the Chamber of Commerce and from all Chamber directors.

All directors have been appointed as members of the ticket sales committee, including Jimmy Boedeker, Johnny Hejl, Gordon Richardson, Johnny Smith, Jimmy Matcek, W. T. Howell, John Kostohryz, Allen Oliver, Wilbert Schmidt, Jim Alford and Larry Lina.

Rosebud Awaits ICC Decision On Tracks

Rosebud is still awaiting decision by the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) about the abandonment of Southern Pacific's rail service between Cameron and Rosebud.

A Southern Pacific spokesman said it is not unusual for the ICC to take so long for action. The railroad's application for abandonment has been before the commission since last August.

The request concerns 13.7 miles of track running from Rosebud to Quintiff, located three miles north of Cameron. The railroad would continue to serve a sash and door company located in Quintiff, J. L. Bart, SP's public information officer, said.

"Traffic to Rosebud has declined so much that it's not economically feasible to continue operations there," Bart said. The number of cars either coming form or going to Rosebud has declined from 201 in 1973, to 170 in 1974, to 60 in 1975 and "even less last year," he said.

Bart said Southern Pacific will continue serving Cameron by using Santa Fe Railroad tracks that connect Cameron and Caldwell. The tracks from Cameron stop in Rosebud.

If the railroad receives permission for abandonment, the city of Rosebud will not have any rail service, nor will it have any rails leading into town.

"When you abandon a piece of track, it comes up," Bart said. The track will sold for salvage.

After Southern Pacific filed its application for abandonment last year, the Rosebud Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution stating its wish to keep the railroad in Rosebud and sent the resolution to the Interstate Commerce Commission and various state and federal officials.

The resolution stressed the need for the railroad in encouraging future industry to locate in Rosebud. The resolution also stated the chamber's hopes that Rosebud will grow in the next few years.

Rogers Council Views Cleanup, Annexation

Annexation, a cleanup campaign, and junk cars came in for discussion by the Rogers city council when it met Monday night.

Council discussed annexation of several pieces of property to the city limits at the property owners' requests.

It also designated the first Saturday in April for the start of a cleanup campaign to dress up the city for its annual Homecoming.

Councilman Dean Gommert was appointed by Mayor W. A. Persky to investigate possible adoption of an ordinance governing junk cars in the city.

Council also discussed the garbage problem and voted to increase from $1 to $5 the charge for hooking up water service after it has been disconnected for non-payment of bills.

Firemen Answer Calls

Cameron firemen answered a call to a car on fire on Emancipation St. just before 5 p.m. Sunday and at 5:55 p.m. Monday were called to trash on fire at the Cameron Compress warehouse loading dock.

Sheriff Hires Deputy, Reports Office Activity

Sheriff Leroy Broadus has announced the hiring of a new deputy to be stationed in Rockdale and also reported action in his department for the first 66 days of 1977.

The new deputy is Thomas Harris, 27, a native of Chilton. He assumed his duties Monday and will live in Rockdale with his wife and three children.

Harris' law enforcement background includes work in the Falls County sheriff's department and the Lott Police Department. He joins John Brooks, chief deputy, and Charlie West.

Broadus' report on his office action was given to the Lions Club Monday and included:

Cases reported to the sheriff in the first 66 days of this year: 21 burglaries, 10 thefts, 1 murder, 1 bank robbery, one rape, 1 attempted rape, and 3 forgeries.

Persons charged and processed through the sheriff's department, 113, with the department arresting 57 and other law enforcement agencies arresting 56.

Persons arrested and processed through the sheriff's department included: 1 murder, 1 rape, 3 assault, 17 burglary, 3 theft, 16 marijuana, 3 disorderly conduct, 31 DWI, 14 drunk, 3 forgery, 3 evading arrest, 6 traffic violations, 3 from other counties, 2 trespassing, 2 weapons, charge, and 4 bad checks.

The department also served 145 civil papers during that time period.

Rosebud Council Acts

Rosebud city council met Saturday and voted to increase life insurance and liability on city volunteer firemen. Life insurance was raised from $2,000 to $5,000, and disability payments raised from $40 a week to $80.

Correction

Dale Smith and Odessa Poole have both filed for Place 4 on the city council with Tommy Corley filing for Place 3. The Herald story of March 7 reported that Smith had filed for Place 3.

Open House, Yoe Science Fair Climax PS Week

Open house and the annual high school science fair will climax observation of Public Schools Week in Cameron on Thursday night (tonight).

Teachers and students will host the open house at Ben Milam School from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.; at Ada Henderson from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.; O. J. Thomas Junior High from 7 to 8:30 p.m.; and Yoe High from 7 to 9 p.m.

The annual Yoe High science fair will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. in a new location--the science department above the gym on the east end.

All parents and interested patrons are urged to visit the schools during the open house and to view exhibits at the science fair.

2 Plead Guilty To Burglary In District Court

Michael McCave and Helen Rives McCave were convicted of the offense of burglary of a habitation in District Court of Milam County on March 4. They are both from Fort Worth.

Each of them waived indictment by the grand jury and pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and entering a mobile home owned by Alan L. Walls at Village Courts near Rockdale on Feb. 19, 1977.

County Atty. John B. Henderson Jr. reported that they were assessed a five-year term in the Texas Department of Corrections. Sentence was suspended and the defendants were placed on supervised adult probation for five years. Court costs were also assessed.

Tight, Modern Schedule...

In approximately two years, the following in new construction or new usage has occurred in county-seat Cameron:

A new jail, one rated among the top 10 in terms of modern confinement structures in Texas, has been built.

A new Courthouse Annex, tax office, has been built, meeting the need for space beyond cellar quarters.

A Milam Museum has evolved from the old Milam Jail, opening last weekend to 600 visitors from around the county.

Construction is nearing completion on an 18,000 - square - foot Milam Youth Exposition Bldg.

What is interesting is the span of time taken to see this much new downtown construction or reinstitution develop. We said two years.

Looking back, these projects would have taken a decade or two by old Milam County development standards.

The Cameron Public Library took five years. The new Mall area and extension, where the Exposition Bldg. is being built, took almost 10 years.

Street programs have dragged out for years. School construction proposals have been extended over at least a decade, some never happened.

Two hospital building programs took anywhere from two to four years, inception to opening. Numerous other projects, such as the Laneport Dam project, took upward to 30 years.

But the time lag is closing. Construction is like the confidence in the Milam area. It is continuous.

A jail proposal failed in bond issue defeat in the mid-60s, but interior remodeling of the Milam Courthouse came a few years later.

All of which says things are running on a tight, modern schedule.

What Others Say...

Who Can Afford A New Home?

NEW YORK - The American dream of home ownership is in danger of becoming obsolete in 1985.

That is the major finding of an authoritative study of the nation's housing plight, conducted jointly by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Harvard University.

Already, according to the study, the sale prices of new houses have grown twice as fast as family incomes; barely a quarter of the nation's households can afford a $44,000 home.

The poorer third of the population has been completely priced out of the house market, and the only families who can find affordable housing are earning $20,000 or more - the top quarter of the nation in terms of earning power.

The United States will enter the 1980s with modest new homes selling for $78,000, according to the study. Later, the price spiral will escalate more, and most of the middle class population will be hard pressed to own their own homes.

"We're not crying out a crisis, but we do have the warning signs of a crisis a few years down the road," said Arthur P. Solomon, director of the joint center and a former White House adviser to President Johnson.

The Harvard - M.I.T. research organization has been pre-eminent in forecasting housing needs since its widely publicized 1973 study disclosed that 13 million American homes were either physically unsound, overcrowded or excessively expensive for the occupants relative to income.

Bullock Tells Good, Bad News

Comptroller Bob Bullock handed the legislature some good news and some bad news:

— Revenue estimates are up — a net of $35.6 million.

— But spending proposals already moving along could turn a billion surplus into a $304 million deficit.

Bullock said auto sales taxes are now zipping along so briskly he is inclined to hike his earlier forecast for income from this source during the next biennium by $69.4 million.

The comptroller also increased by $12.7 million his November estimate on revenue from natural and casinghead gas. But he reduced other estimates, including interest on state bank deposits, the cigarette tax and the motor fuels tax.

Bullock's new outlook placed total revenue available for appropriation at $6.057 billion. He noted the Legislative Budget Board appropriation bill calls for $4.8 billion in biennial spending, leaving $1.3 billion for "everything else."

Subtracting $607 million for the House-passed (and Senate logjammed) highway finance bill, $820 million for new school spending (considered a minimum figure) and a loss of revenue totalling $258 million due to House passage of utility sales tax and inheritance tax exemption measures, Bullock calculated the legislature could wind up $304 million in the hole.

Briscoe Optimistic

Gov. Dolph Briscoe said he is still optimistic the Senate will pass the highway finance bill he has termed an emergency.

At the same time, the governor indicated he is considering an emergency tag for his $850 million school finance proposal if it comes through House committee virtually in tact.

After quick passage through the House, the highway bill (HB 3) has twice been bottled up in Senate Finance Committee sub-committee.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby has outmanuevered Briscoe in keeping the measure off the Senate floor, arguing that highway needs should not be given priority over all others.

Republicans Moving

Texas Republican Chairman Ray Hutchison scheduled a series of GOP leadership conferences over the state March-July.

Hutchison said the party's goal is "total organization top to bottom in every county in the State" and a statewide voter registration drive.

Sessions will be held in San Angelo, Longview, Abilene, Midland/Odessa, Amarillo, Corpus Christi, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Beaumont, Waco and El Paso.

Food Prices Up

The State Agriculture Department's Market Basket Survey increased 19 cents last month and $1.24 from six months ago.

Average cost of the "market basket" in 12 major cities was $19.46.

Only significant increase reported was for coffee — up 16 cents from January to $3.08 per pound.

Slight increases were noted in eggs, chicken, bread, apples and orange juice. Pork chops and bacon remained at the January price level while round steak was lowered by seven cents and ground beef one cent.

Courts Speak

The state Supreme Court rejected Southwestern Bell's request for delay in implementing the telephone rate ordered last December by Texas Public Utility Commission. PUC granted a $57.8 million increase. The company wanted $298.3 million.

The high court, in a split five-to-four verdict, held Texas courts have no power to referee election contests over congressional places, and ordered dismissal of the suit of defeated Republican former Congressman Ron Paul in the Houston area.

In another action, the Supreme Court upheld lower court findings against a Dallas woman in the libel action she brought against a local television station.

The Court of Criminal Appeals is taking under consideration the contempt case involving an Alice rancher who refused to answer questions about $500,000 dug up by his son and another youth on his ranch.

Appointments

Gov. Dolph Briscoe announced 23 appointments to new district courts just created by the legislature. Most of the appointments are effective April 1.

Briscoe also named Dr. Ramiro R. Casso of McAllen to the Texas Board of Health Resources, replacing Dr. Sterling H. Fly Jr. of Uvalde.

Atty. Gen. John Hill appointed Sarah Shirley as assistant chief of his insurance, banking and securities division.

Hill announced addition of Rick Gentry, former aide to House Speaker Bill Clayton, as a legislative research assistant on the attorney general's staff.

John G. Soule has joined the Railroad Commission as assistant special counsel.

Short Snorts

Atty. Gen. Hill has called on Commissioner of Education Dr. M. L. Brockette to expedite reaccreditation of Benavides Independent School District.

Rep. Tom Schieffer of Fort Worth introduced legislation to give political parties a choice whether to hold statewide proportional representation or winner-take-all-by-district presidential preference primaries.

The Senate passed a new pension plan for volunteer firemen.

Bills to repeal the death penalty and change the method of execution (to drug injection) drew big interest at a joint legislative committee hearing.

A measure providing "floating" interest rates on consumer loans up to $5,000 is a major item of controversy in the Senate.

The Parks and Wildlife Department will hold hearings March 21-25 as the first step toward setting game and fish laws for coming seasons.

The Senate voted to increase the size of the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals from five to nine judges and permit them to sit in panels of three to hear cases.

Supreme Court Justice Price Daniel was named "Mr. East Texas" in recent ceremonies at the state capitol building. The presentation of this prestigious award coincides with the Tyler County Dogwood Festival. Past recipients have been such notables as former Governor Allan Shivers and former Ambassador Ed Clark.

The Lonely Heart

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editor:

How to interpret statistics is an art a lot of people haven't mastered, and the best way for a scientist for example to get his name in the paper is to announce that his experiments show that something we've all been consuming for years is harmful to rats in his laboratory, although it doesn't seem to bother rats on the outside; they keep right on multiplying and thriving on our leftovers.

What brought this to mind were some statistics I read on the use of hand guns in crime. According to the figures, only 16 percent of guns confiscated by the police when they apprehend criminals were the cheap "Saturday Night Specials," the rest were expensive models, like Colt and Smith & Wesson.

This, an analysis by experts concluded, proves that banning the manufacture and sale of Saturday Night Specials would have rather small effect in curbing crime.

The expert who figured that out may not be able to see the facts for the statistics. He may not understand the American way of crime. He may not know you have to crawl before you can walk.

I mean, starting out in crime may be like starting out in business. Most of the time, unless your father owns the plant, or in the case of crime, runs the gang, you have to start on a shoestring.

Sure, it's nice, in the case of business, to start out as a vice-president of the company, and, in crime, with a brand new Smith & Wesson revolver, but the ordinary American youngster has no such headstart.

Therefore, if you've chosen crime as your profession, about the best you can manage at the start is a cheap Saturday Night Special, and then gradually work your way up to the better pistols. Oh, you can start with a butcher knife, but you've got to be mighty ambitious to try it.

Now as everybody knows, about two-thirds of the criminals practicing their profession these days have already been convicted a time or two and are out on bond, or parole, or were declared rehabilitated and released from prison. Gary Gilmore was out on parole.

So to go further into those statistics showing only 16 percent of the crimes were committed with cheap guns, those experts ought to find out how many first crimes were pulled off with them.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

John C. White, Commissioner

Texas To Get Its Share . . . Cheep, Cheep . . . Harvest Increases.

Texas is expected to share liberally in the anticipated farm exports for fiscal year 1977 (October 1976 to September 1977).

The value of U.S. agricultural exports is expected to exceed $23 billion. Texas is now third in the nation in total value of farm exports with more than $1.5 billion. Illinois and Iowa are in first and second place respectively.

Texas exports one-fourth of all U.S. cotton; the state is also a major exporter of grain sorghum as well as hides and skins, cottonseed oil, fruits, vegetables, and meats.

The increased value of exports is expected to reflect higher prices for oilseeds and oilseed products and significant increases in natural fibers, many animal products, and fruits and nuts and vegetables.

However, lower grain prices are in prospect for this fiscal year. The wheat export unit value is expected to drop about a fifth from the past fiscal year. Corn prices may average about 10 per cent lower. Soybean and oilmeal prices may show an increase of about a third.

U.S. exports are now forecast at $23.2 billion; imports are now estimated at $13.4 billion. This would leave an agricultural trade balance of $9.8 billion.

EGG PRODUCTION in Texas during January was up three per cent compared to a month ago and a year ago, the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes.

However, broiler production in the state was down four per cent compared to a year ago.

Turkey poult production was down 15 per cent from a year ago.

WHILE MOST FARMERS in the state are making plans for spring planting, producers in the Rio Grande Valley are busy with vegetable harvest.

Carrot, cabbage and lettuce harvest activity increased in the Valley as dry weather brought about improved field conditions. Harvest of early oranges is virtually completed and picking of grapefruit gains momentum.

In the Eagle Pass area, harvest of broccoli, spinach, and cabbage remains active.

Sugarcane harvesting is about three months behind schedule in the southern part of the state due to wet weather.

Cotton planting in the southern sections has also been delayed by too much rain. But wherever possible, Texas farmers are now engaged in spring planting activities.

Land preparation has been slowed due to cold, wet weather; cotton planting in the southern sections has been delayed due to wet weather; dry weather is needed so that planting of crops can begin.

Warmer weather has caused wheat and oat fields to grow, but in many areas fields are still too wet, and more drying weather is needed to allow grazing without damaging the crop.

Ranges in the eastern half of the state remain in poor condition. Continued wet weather has kept pastures muddy. Hay supplies are short as heavy supplemental feeding continues.

Ranges in the western half are in need of rain as well as warmer weather.

Rains have also slowed harvest of vegetable crops in the San Antonio area. Citrus harvest has also been kept to a minimum due to the wet weather.

CATTLE ON FEED in Texas continues to show a downward trend. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service notes that as of Feb. 1 there were 1,660,000 head of cattle and calves on feed for slaughter in the state.

This is 12 per cent below a year ago, and is 3 per cent below a month ago.

In the seven major feeding states -- Texas, Arizona, California, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, and Nebraska -- cattle on feed is down six per cent from a year ago. The total number on feed is set at 7,862,000 head.

Texas cattle feeders placed 313,000 head into their lots during January. This is three per cent below a year ago. There were 350,000 head of fat cattle marketed during January.

MILK PRODUCTION in Texas during 1976 totaled 3,309,000,000 pounds. This is an increase of three per cent from the total milk production in the state during 1975.

And though production was up, total numbers of milk cows are down. There were 320,000 milk cows in the state compared to 333,000 during 1975.

Annual production per cow was a record high 10,341 pounds compared with 9,634 pounds the previous year.

The number of dairies also declined in the state during 1976. There were 14,500 milk cow operations in the state in 1976. This is down 500 from the previous year.

Nationwide, milk production was 4.4 per cent above the 1975 level. This was also the highest production nationwide since 1965.

County Agent's Notes

Hybrid Tomato Plants Available

By Bill McCutchen
Milam Co. Ext. Ag.

Many of you have been asking me about the availability of some of the new hybrid tomatoes, and I am pleased to announce that two of the best I have grown will be available in Milam County this year.

Jimmy Kunz of 208 S. Karnes in Cameron will have a supply of Spring Giant transplants; and Stephen Lehnart of 614 Harvard St. will be selling Spring Giant, Big Set, and Bonus tomatoes for Gene Whitaker of Cameron.

The Spring Giant and Big Set are some of the best field tomatoes grown and they are also excellent in home garden. They are a big tomato, with excellent quality and are very heavy producers.

For most home gardeners I would recommend the Spring Giant; however, if you have nematode problems the Big Set is nematode resistant and a heavy producer.

Other nematode resistant varieties available include Teriffic, Bonus, Super Fantastic, 662, Better Boy, Nematex, and a few others. These are available through normal channels and if you have nematode problems you should make it a point to find them.

SORGHUM PLANTING

Land preparation, herbacide incorporation, fertilization, and corn and grain sorghum planting was going at a fast pace until the rain last Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

The rain was needed by many to help dissolve cloddy ground from plowing wet. Fertilizer was tough to come by and prices have been jumping steadily.

I would estimate that about 15% of the grain sorghum had been planted prior to the rain in the Thorndale area with scattered plantings over the remainder of the county. Everyone will be planting as soon as fields dry.

Entomologist Reports On Greenbugs

By Robert E. Glodt Jr.

Although I can't speak for every wheat and oat field in Williamson and Milam Counties, greenbugs have increased to damaging proportions in a few instances. Greenbug counts ranged from 100 to 200 greenbugs per foot of row in one field near Walburg.

Beneficial insects were also present; however, their numbers were too low to keep greenbugs in check.

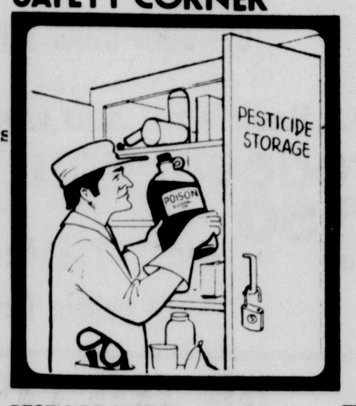
Although growers should make frequent field inspections now that the temperatures are increasing, special attention should be devoted to those fields that have made poor winter growth or have suffered from winter wather damage.

Fields that are unhardy (not lush green and growing), are extremely susceptible to high greenbug populations. Fields with plants averaging 4 to 5 inches of lush green vigorous growth can tolerate higher greenbug populations. Yellow patches in the field is a good indication that greenbugs are building and treatment may be necessary.

Check for greenbugs at the base of the stem and on the undersides of leaves. Slapping plants with the palm of your hand dislodges greenbugs and they can be easily seen on the ground. If you find a large percentage of small greenbugs (small in size), this is a good indication that the population is increasing.

Information concerning the selection of insecticides can be obtained from the County Extension Office. Several producers have asked about the use of Sevin for greenbug control. Sevin is NOT a good compund for controlling greenbugs and may actually cause problems with other insects resistant to Sevin.

SAFETY CORNER MARCH



PESTICIDE SAFETY

Keep pesticides where they can be locked up and away from children. Read pesticide labels and follow directions carefully. If one tablespoon is recommended, that doesn't mean two are better. Use only recommended amounts. Do not smoke while using pesticides, wear protective clothing, including gloves, and always wash your hands when you are through applying pesticides.

The famed Texas Longhorn, long a symbol of the birth of the nation's cattle industry, is being reconsidered by producers interested in incorporating them into modern breeding programs, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Longhorn Comeback Possibility As Producers Reconsider Breed

AUSTIN--The Texas Longhorn, long a major symbol of the birth of the nation's cattle industry, may well be making a comeback among cattle breeders.

"Breeders from Texas to Canada, from Minnesota to California, are re-examining the unique qualities of the Longhorn breed in order to incorporate them into modern breeding programs," according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Some ten million head of Longhorns made the long journey up Texas cattle trails to northern and eastern markets in the 25 years following the Civil War alone.

But by the turn of the century, the combination of barbed wire fences and imported breeds began to spell doom for the breed's dominance. Within a few years, Longhorns were nearer extinction than the American buffalo.

Interest in the breed has never died out altogether, and since 1964, the Texas Longhorn Breeders Association of America (TLBAA) has been telling the Longhorn story nationwide.

"The uncertain economics of modern-day cattle production have fostered a second look at Longhorn genetic characteristics," Commissioner White explained.

According to TLBAA executive secretary Manual Gustamente, Jr., Longhorns have fewer calving problems, produce well under marginal conditions, live longer than other breeds, contribute vigor, and utilize their hardy characteristics well in crossbreeding.

From a low of less than 1,500 true Longhorns known to exist in the U.S. in 1964, breeders have been steadily increasing registered herds, with an eye toward once again making the famed animal an integral part of the nation's cattle industry.

John C. White Man of Year

AUSTIN--Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has been named 1976 Man of the Year in Service to Texas Agriculture in the February issue of Progressive Farmer magazine.

Ceremonies are to be slated soon for official presentation of the award, which is presented by the national publication in recognition of service to the needs of farmers and ranchers.

In 13 terms as the state's agriculture commissioner, White "has built a streamlined, efficient state department of agriculture that is the envy of many other states," according to Progressive Farmer editor Del Deterling.

Officials from several other state agriculture departments, including Illinois, Mississippi, and North Carolina, have recently toured the facilities of the Texas department, investigating in particular the success of the TAP (Texas Agricultural Products) Program developed by White in the early 1960's.

White, a native of Clay County and graduate of Texas Tech University, is considered the "dean" of state agricultural commissioners

One% Cattle Increase Caused by Poor Prices

AUSTIN--A one per cent annual increase in Texas cattle and calf numbers can be attributed in large part to the poor prices producers received throughout 1976, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Explaining that the biggest jump in inventory reported Jan. 1, 1977, was for stocker cattle under 500 lbs., White stated, "Ranchers have been holding onto animals, hoping for an upturn in the market."

"Depressed prices have also meant that animals are putting on weight at a slower pace, since producers have cut to a minimum any supplemental feeding of their animals."

Increased inshipments of cattle, particularly from Mexico, must also be considered when explaining the percentage point increase, White added.

"Of course, this one per cent increase to 15,800,000 head as of the first of the year does not offset the dramatic inventory decrease of some six per cent between 1975-76," White commented.

The largest Texas export item, cotton, accounts for nearly one fourth of all U.S. cotton exports.

THE BIG ONE FOR DRY COUNTRY

IT'S DEPENDABLE

Dependable yields of consistently high quality fiber even in drouth years. That's what made LX 571 a long time favorite with farmers here about. And it's nice to know that you don't have to give up something else for drouth resistance. Farmers appreciate the good gin turn-out of fairly long staple fiber which mikes in the premium range under normal conditions.

At maturity you'll like the looks of LX 571's storm resistant bolls and at harvest you'll appreciate how well it strips one-time-over.

LX 571 along with other Lankart varieties accounts for over 60% of the cotton planted in the Altus Classing Office territory and have for a number of years . . . strong testimony from people who know how to grow cotton in this area. If you think this might be a dry year

CHECK THESE LX 571 CHARACTERISTICS:

- Good dryland cotton
- Good root system for drouth resistance
- Top yields
- Good gin turn-out
- Medium early maturity
- Storm resistant bolls
- Excellent stripper variety
- Well-adapted to one-time-over harvesting
- Staple length in the 1" and longer range
- Micronaire in the premium range
(under normal growing conditions)

CHECK THESE RESULTS:

Information from cotton variety comparisons made in 1976 in various locations in Texas and Oklahoma:

- Childress, Texas
On dryland without fertilization LX 571 (Lankart) made 687 pounds of lint per acre. The cotton which was machine harvested had a micronaire of 4.7, staple length of 30 and a gin turnout of 26.8 percent.
- Haskell, Texas
In a dryland cotton variety test, LX 571 produced 665 pounds of lint to top the test and beat the second variety in the test by 12 pounds per acre. The fiber graded 50, had a staple length of 32, micronaire of 5.4 and a gin turnout of 29.5 percent.
- Wall, Texas
LX 571 also topped this test of eight varieties on non-irrigated land without fertilizer. It produced 544 pounds of lint with a staple length of 34. Micronaire was 4.7, solidly in the premium range.
- Delhi, Oklahoma
Under extreme drought conditions and without irrigation, LX 571 made a lint yield of 250 pounds per acre. The cotton graded 40, had a staple length of 30/32, a micronaire of 5.2. The gin turnout was 29.9 percent.
- Cooperton, Oklahoma
In this test on the Kenneth Boyd farm, Lankart LX 571 produced 349 pounds per acre of very good cotton. It graded 50 with a staple length of 33/32, micronaire of 5.0 and had a gin turnout of 28.6 percent.

If you raise dryland cotton in this area where drouth is a threat, go with LX 571 this year. You can get Lankart LX 571 from your ginner.

Buckholts

Mrs. Edwin Gandy

The children here ar back in school again after a weeks vacation. A lot of the high school boys and girls attended the stock show in Houston.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lock were J. C. Lock of Temple, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Happer of Houston, and Mrs. Lena Russell of Yarrelton.

Will Lesikar is a patient in the Veterans Hospital in Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Peeler of Bryan spent Friday night and Saturday with his parents, Mr.and Mrs. Nealon Peeler and also visited his brother and family, the Edwin L. Peeler family.

The Roger Williamson family of Calvert visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs O. W. Whittington, over the weekend.

Mrs. Bernice Woodward visited in Waco on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Williams Sr. left Saturday to attend the stock show in Houston.

Visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Hill of Rogers were the Travis Hill family.

Those visiting with the Douglas Williams family on Monday were Mrs. Earnest Winfrey of Davilla; and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Skrhak and daughter of Brownwood.

Bobby Loftin of Temple visited with relatives here on Sunday.

Mrs. Florene Baker of Buckholts and her brother, Eldon Price of Fort Worth, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fisher and sons.

Visiting with Mrs. Paul Sakewitz and Leslie on Sunday were Mrs. Pauline Friemel of Cameron, the Arthur Cross family of Belton, and Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Hanke and family of Rogers.

We are glad to welcome two new famiies to Buckholts. They are Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lopez and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Parvin. They are going to open and operate a garage in the Gresak building.

Mrs. Dealie Arnold and others attended the birthday party held Sunday for Mrs. Fred Cockran in the educational building of the Battetown Baptist Church.

The Edwin Peeler family moved into their new home on Friday and Saurday.

The museum will be open to the public on Friday, April 8. There will be a bake sale held there in the afternoon.

Baylor Renovation Wins History Prize

The restoration of Old Main and (eorgia Burleson Hall at Baylor University has won the Texas State Historical Association Coral Horton Tullis Memorial Prize for "the most important contribution to Texas history in 1976."

The prestigious 9th annual award was presented o Baylor representatives Saturday, March 5, at the TSHA annual meeting at the Baker Hotel in Dallas.

Are Your House Plants Sick?

By Vivian Pittman
Milam Co. Ext. Ag.

Are your house plants sick? Do you know what plants to select for dark areas of your home, for foliage, for color, for flowering, plants for fillers, how to select pots for different plants, how to select pot sleeves and dress them, and where to put them?

If you do not have the answer and want further information, plan to attend the program on Thursday, March 17 at 7 p.m. at the Gause Community Center and on Wednesday, March 30 at 7 p.m. at Davilla at the Community Center.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Porcelain Art Guild

The Cameron Porcelain Art Guild held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday at the Business & Professional Women's club house. Sixteen members were present.

Eula Crook, club president, presided at the business meeting. It was announced that Rita Dye would hold a workshop for the Cameron club in July. It was also decided that the 1978 show would be held the third Sunday in September.

The following new officers were elected: Eula Crook, president; Duffie Caperton, vice-president; Billie Radke, secretary-treasurer; Ruby Mosley, corresponding secretary; Sammie Miller, parliamentarian; and Molly Richter, historian.

Molly Richter, Maria Holly, Eula Crook, Lela Rogers, and Ruby Mosley will represent the club as delegates to the state convention being held in Dallas.

Roxanne Jordan was accepted into the club as a new member. Maria Holly gave a demonstration and Wilma McCollum won the door prize.

Pleasure & Profit

The Pleasure & Profit Club met Tuesday at the Business & Professional Women's club house for a salad supper. Sylvia Love was hostess for the meeting.

Members invited their husbands and friends as guests.

After a meal of numerous salads and desserts, tables were set up for an evening of games of 42.

Beta Nu

Mrs. A. Cherijan of India, who is working as a visiting RN in Halbert's Hospital, and Mrs. Willie Adams, RN, director of nurses in the hospital, were guests speakers for the Beta Nu tea Saturday afternoon at 2:30. Stephan Slovacek was guest musician.

Mrs. Robert Souther was director of the program on "Values Strategy" for Program No. 3 of Professional Committment. Miss Glenda Gray and Mrs. Joe clark introduced the guests. The Rosebud members were hostesses for the meeting with Mrs. Emmitt James as chairman.

The table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a gold candelabra holding lighted green tapers. From it were served punch, sandwiches, cookies, and nuts. The green frosted punch, green candles, and the shamrock-deocrated napkins carried out a St. Patrick's Day theme.

Mrs. Cherijan and Mrs. Adams presented a question and answer resume of Mrs. Cherijan's life and education in India, her coming to the United States, and her work here as a nurse in a small town hospital. Mrs. Cherijan told about the status of women in India, the arranged marriages, religions, and the many languages of the vast Stephen Slovacek played played numbers from famous musicals and conluded with an original rendition of the Delta Kappa Gamma theme song.

Mrs. Range anounced about the state convention of Delta Kappa Gamma to be held in Houston in June.

Cotton Future Is Optimistic

RALEIGH

America's cotton producers are making their planting and marketing plans for 1977-78 based on the expectation of continued firm prices for their crops.

That's the word from economists at Cotton Incorporated, the fiber research and marketing company of U. S. cotton growers.

While there are some uncertainties, several important signs pointed to another good year for most cotton producers, said David M. Cox, Cotton Incorporated vice-president for economic research and development.

He said these signs include:

--An improving U.S. economy after the first quarter of the year.

--A continued rise in demand for cotton, both domestically and around the world.

--Tight world cotton supplies moving into the new cotton year.

Because of the severly harsh winter over much of the country, the pace of U. S. economic growth will be much slower in the first quarter than had been expected, Cox said.

However, he added, "Prospects for the remainder of the year look promising. As the weather improves, industrial production is expected to recover sharply as inventories are replenished. Retailers are optimistic about 1977 in total, as are automobile manufacturers and home builders.

"There are some clouds in the domestic busines climate for 1977--lingering unemployment, high energy costs and inflation--but the economy is expected to move ahead as the grip of winter lessens after the first quarter," Cox said.

M. Daniel Troxler, Cotton Incorporated associate director of demand economics, said he U. S. textile industry expects to be operating at higher production levels during the last half of 1977 as compared to the first six months.

"Projected increases in housing starts and automobile sales are promising signals for improved demand for home furnshings and industrial fabrics," Troxler pointed out. "Increased retail sales are expected during the last half of 1977, and this will soon stimulate textile production."

Troxler said that as the tempo of business quickens, demand for cotton will increase.

"Consumer demand for cotton was strong throughout 1976 and idications are that cotton continues to have the consumer's eye," he said. "Denim sales remain very good and corduroy is expected to have a banner year. Anticipated increased demand for home furnshings and industrial fabric, if realized, will add to cotton demand in 1977-78."

Some sound advice if you're in the market for a radio receiver is not get swayed by chrome rather than chromatics. A receiver that looks like the control panel of a 747 may be pretty to look at, but one with a simple exterior and accurate music reproduction is what you should look for.

TJC Trustees Authorize Bonds For Construction

TEMPLE

The Temple Junior College Board of Trustees has authorized issuance of $425,000 in revenue bonds to help finance construction of a new Vocational Technical-General Administration Building.

Acting in special session Thursday night, the Trustees authorized the college's fiscal agent to begin seeking a buyer for the bonds and named the Temple firm of Logsdon and Voelter as architects for the project.

The proposed new building will cost an estimated $650-000 including furnishings and equipment and will be partially financed by building fund reserves and available monies now being collected in the building use fee paid by students.

Trustees also authorized an increase in the building use fee of up to 50 cent per semester hour for retirement of the bonds. TJC students now pay $1 per semester hour in building use fees.

It is anticipated that construction of the facility will begin this fall and that the building will be complete by the beginning of the 1978 fall semester.

The proposed building will be a two-story structure with a total of 15,000 square feet located east of the Watson Technical Center.

The 9,000 square foot classroom portion of the building will be devoted to certain vocational-technical areas including new typing and steno labs, real estate and accounting. These programs will be moved from the Watson Technical Center to allow expansion room for growing programs in data processing, drafting, mid-management, and auto mechanics.

The second floor (6,000 square feet) will be devoted to general administration including offices for the president, business office, public information office, administrative assistant, and a new board room.

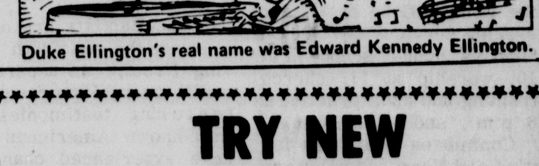
Stock Show Adds Two Extra Dates

The Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show has added two extra dates for the World's Original Indoor Rodeo beginning in 1978, making a total of 22 championship performances.

W.R. Watt Jr., Stock Show general manager, said the move to increase the run of the show to 12 days was a recent decision of the Stock Show's executive committee.

"The two additional rodeo performances will allow a number of people to see the show who have been unable to attend because of a limited seating capacity in Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum," Watt said.



Duke Ellington's real name was Edward Kennedy Ellington.

Bible Society Releases Count

NEW YORK

By the end of 1976, at least one book of the Bible had been published in 1,603 languages and dialects since the invention of printing, according to the American Bible Society's annual Scripture language count released today.

Twenty-nine languages which have never appeared on the list before were added in 1976.

The Gospel of Mark is the Biblical book that most frequently appeared first in a language, the report showed. In 19 of the 29 new additions, the Gospel of Mark was the first book printed.

Asked why the Gospel of Mark is so frequently translated first, Dr. Eugene A. Nida, executive secretary of the Bible Society's Translation Department, responded, "Mark tells the story of Jesus in a direct, dynamic way. It avoids the long genealogy that begins Matthew, the long Old Testament quotations in Luke, and the philosophic prologue of John."

Dr. Nida also noted that the choice of the first book to be translated varies according to culture. In the Muslim world Matthew is preferred, in Latin America Luke, and in India John.

The official language court, which the Bible Society releases annually, keeps a running tally of all new Scripture publications appearing in a language for the first time. It is compiled from copies of the new Scriptures received from various organizations by the Society's library, which is the largest Scripture collection in the Western Hemisphere.

The report also listed 19 languages in which the New Testament was reported published for the first time. They range from Aguaruna spoken in Peru to Wantoat spoken in Papua New Guinea. A New Testament in Fali is the first part of Scripture to be published in that language which is spoken in Cameroon.

The list indicated that the complete Bible is now available in 262 languages, the New Testament in 401, and portions of the Bible in 940.

Revival Set For Rogers Church

ROGERS

The First Baptist Church of Rogers is holding the "Good News Texas" revival meetings at the church from March 13 through 20, with the Rev. Stan Blevins as the evangelist.

Rev. Blevins is pastor of the Oak-Wood Baptist Church in Lubbock, and has been there since 1969. He is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University of Abilene, and holds the Master of Divinity degree from Southwestern Theological Seminary in Fort Worth. He is listed in "Who's Who in Religion," and in Marquis "Who's Who in the West." He is a popular speaker at youth meetings, retreats, and at groups in general.

Coleman L. Young, music director of the church, will conduct the music program. Rev. Shelby Jones is pastor and Allen Green is director of youth work at the church.

The congregation will be in for a real treat on Saturday night of the revival when Mike Hughes will be the speaker. Hughes, from Denton, is a three-year starter at Baylor University, all-conference Cotton Bowl, Blue-Gray Classic, and Coaches All-American Bowl. He was fifth round choice of the Washington Redskins. He sat out last year but will play in 1977. He has a BBA in Management from Baylor and is Central Texas field association for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Morning services during the week will be at 10, and evening services at 7:30. On Sundays, Sunday school is at 10, worship at 11, church training and choir practice at 6 p.m., and worship at 7.

Committee chairmen for the Good News campaign are music committee, Marvin J. Ralston; prayer committee, Wray Durnal; publicity committee, B. F. Harbour; attendance committee, W. A. Warren; youth committee, Claude White and Allen Green; evangelism committee, Coleman Young; and hospitality, Mrs. Ruth Smith.

The Living Proof media campaign is still in full swing, featuring famous people from various walks of life from all over the country. The media campaign is designed to sensitize the public in the gospel, opening doors for local churches to witness and respond to inquires prompted by the media effort.

The public is cordially invited to attend any or all services.

Methodist Church News

The third Sunday of Lent will be observed at the worship services at the Tracy and First Methodist Churches of Cameron Sunday.

The Scripture lesson will be read from March 10:17-27 and the special music by the chancel choir will be directed by Mrs. Tommy Corley. Mrs. Hilliard Thomas wil l play the organ. The service will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. Stanley Vodicka Jr., who will speak on the theme of "The Gift of Growth."

Membership confirmation training will be held at 10 a.m. on Sunday mornings for the next four Sundays. All youth from the fourth through the eighth grades are invited to attend these special classes that will include the showing of filmstrips that deal with the Cristian faith and the meaning of church membership.

The second special Lenten study on the b0k of Mark will be held in the Fellowship Hall at 5 p.m. this Sunday. Holy Land slides on Jesus' ministry on Caesarea will be shown. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Beach will meet with the boys and girls in the basement assembly room and a nursery will be provided for infants and small children.

There will be a training workshop for key leaders in the church at First Church, Bryan, on March 20 from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Choir rehearsals for the community choir Easter Cantata are being held at the First Methodist Church on Wednesday evenings at 8 p.m.

CHURCH SERVICES

The First Baptist Church of Milano will be in the Living Proof Revival March 13 through 20. Regular time on Sunday, 7 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Joe Dan Franklin will be preaching. and Frank Warren will be leading the singing.

The public is invited to have an encounter with Jesus Christ.

Baptists To Sweep State

Texas Baptists are about to sweep the state with "Living Proof," an unparalled media evangelism campaign featuring testimonies by well-known Americans who have experienced changed lives through commitment to Jesus Christ.

Among celebrities spotlighted in the $1.5 million media campaign are Billy "White Shoes" Johnson of the Houston Oilers; actor Dean Jones; former militant Eldridge Cleaver; and Country & Western star Jeannie C. Riley.

Living Proof will move across the state in four-week periods of intensive multimedia advertising beginning Feb. 20 in North Texas; March 6 in South Texas; and March 27 in West Texas.

Before ending in April, the campaign is expected to reach every Texas resident at least 40 times through TV, radio, newspaper, magazine, outdoor display, and transit advertising.

IT'S PERSONAL
People keep teaching their children to say their prayers at bedtime, but how many do it themselves?
Maybe sometimes they pray in the darkness, silently, so that no one will know. But why the secrecy? Because prayer is a very deep, personal kind of expression? Because we reveal ourselves through it?
Even those of us who have gotten away from the custom of going to church every Sunday, who think they've put religion down the line on their list of priorities, turn back swiftly when in trouble, saying, "Dear God," first of all.
So why wait? In church you can pray alone or with others, in darkness or in light; but always in your own way—with a blessed sense of belonging.

IRS Rule Governs Exemptions

While several persons together may contribute over one-half the support of a dependent, only one taxpayer is qualified to claim the dependent's exemption, the Internal Revenue Service said.

If two or more persons support the dependent but one pays more than one-half the support cost, that individual receives the exemption.

If no one person contributes more than one-half of the support cost but a group of two or more persons together contribute more than one-half the costs, the group must choose one of its members to claim the exemption, the IRS continued.

The taxpayer who claims the exemption must have contributed more than 10 percent of the total support costs and must meet all other dependency tests.

The remaining contributors must complete and sign Form 2120, "Multiple Support Declaration," stating that they will not claim the exemption that year. This form must be filed with the income tax return of the person claiming the exemption.

For more information on claiming dependents, taxpayers can obtain IRS Publication 501, "Your Exemptions and Exemptions for Dependents," free by fillihg out the coupon appearing in the instructions of the tax package.

Marek To Compete In Tractor Pull

Kenneth Marek of Burlington has accepted an invitation to participate in the 1977 Southwest Championship Tractor Pull at Fort Worth on March 11-13.

Kenneth, who pulls in the modified class with a W9 International with a 427 Blown Chevy, will be competing with other pullers from across the Southwest for trophies and cash awards. This year's total purse is $28,600.

He is a cotton and grain farmer and is half owner and operator of a grain elevator. He has pulled since 1973 and built one of the first 4 modified tractors in Texas.

RR Commissioner Raps Emergency Gas Act

SAN ANTONIO Railroad Commission Chairman Mack Wallace said todav the folly of the Emergency Natural Gas Act of 1977 is that it simply allows representatives of other states "to come to Texas and other states that have developed their resounces" and cart off intrastate gas.

"The injustice of it is that you have already paid for the gas in he form of high utility bills," Wallace told the Texas Water Conservation Association at the Palacio del Rio Hotel here.

Wallace chastised eastern states whose officials have failed to develop their own resources in spite of warnings that Texas and other producing states cannot continue to issue "energy food stamps" the east has been on since the 1950s.

The Commission chairman said he wrote New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne in March of 1975 that his opposition to exploration for oil and natural gas offshore in the Atlantic was counterproductive to national security and employment levels.

"It seems elementary that if New Jersey were producing natural gas off its coastline, then the working man in your state would benefit greatly and at the same time you would be making a great contribution toward energy self-sufficiency in the United States."

Wallace explained that Byrne wrote him back about a month later noting that energy problems "must be balanced. I have often said that the shoreline is this State's most precious resource," Byrne's letter states. "It is also the focus of our seven billion dollar tourist industry, one of this State's largest."

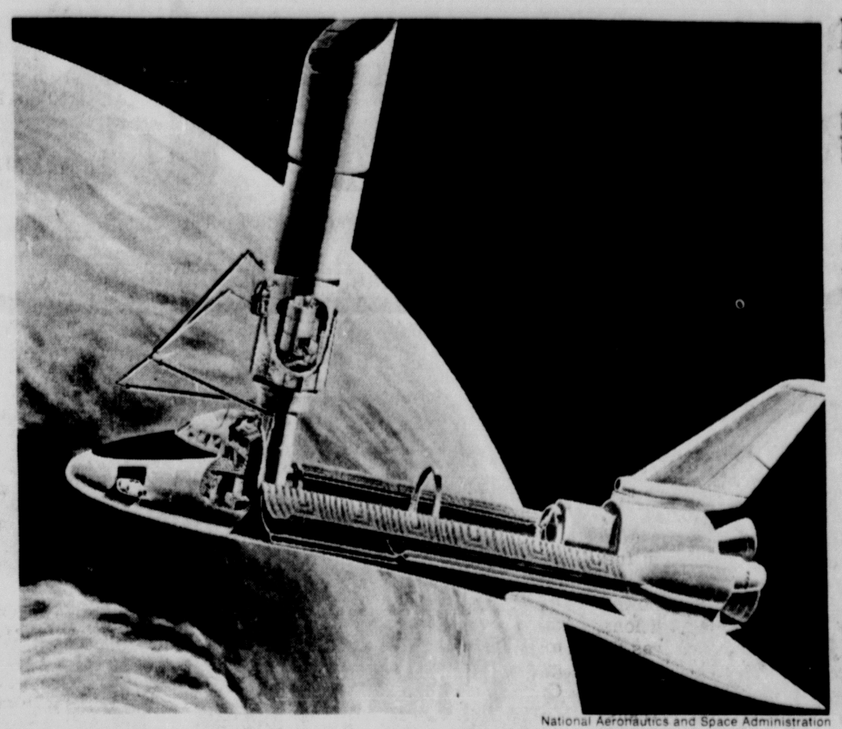
Wallace told his San Antonio audience he wanted to go to New Jersey during the most severe part of the natural gas shortage to explain to "all these cold people that it wasn't really important for them to have heaters--they could go out and look at their shoreline because their governor said it was their most precious resource. All these mothers and daddies with little kids that are turning blue ought to go warm themselves on the shoreline."

Wallace said some 1,200 expiratory holes have been drilled in the bays and estuaries of Texas with little or no impact on Texas' tourist trade along the coast.

"That is what we have done off the coast of Texas to try to save those people from themselves. And incidentally, they are getting to be a pretty heavy burden to carry."

The Congress also drew Wallace' ire--"Congress has not passed a single bill that has found a single cubic foot of natural gas or one barrel of oil."

Proposed federal surface mining legislation which is supposed to create a set of uniform rules and regulations nationwide won't work., the Texas official continued, because the mining process is different in Texas that it is in Kentucky or Pennsylvania, for example.



National Aeronautics and Space Administration

MOST POWERFUL telescope ever built looms above a space shuttle. Astronaut seen in the open hatch makes final adjustment to the space telescope before it is set free to float in earth orbit. The reusable space shuttle that will carry men and scientific instruments into space in the 1980s will be able to service the telescope or return it to a NASA center on earth if any major repairs or adjustments are necessary.

New Prince Of Telescopes Will Probe The Universe

A powerful new eye will soon peer into the far reaches of the universe.

The large space telescope that will be placed in orbit by the space shuttle in the early 1980s will give earthbound astronomers an unprecedented view of the heavens, the National Geographic Society reports.

Positioned far above the blurring effect of earth's hazy and turbulent atmosphere, the telescope will be able to focus on distant stars and galaxies with a clarity only dreamed of a few years ago. Instruments on the telescope will beam images directly to earth.

Promises Super Gain

"The super gain of the space telescope is that we will be getting out to where the images are completely quiet, and where the full resolvent power of the telescope can be used," explains Dr. Harlan J. Smith, an astronomer at the University of Texas.

"Very roughly, it will let us see a hundred times as much information in each element of the sky as we can see now. In the optical domain, the space telescope is the prince of instruments. There will be nothing that can compete or compare with it on the ground in terms of the clarity and resolution with which it can see the universe."

Another scientist expressed a more down-to-earth view of the future prince: "There will be too much work for all of us, too much excitement. Our wives will object that we are too much with our heads in the skies and too little in the kitchen."

Wives may find the dish-drying duties neglected for quite some time. Once placed in orbit by the shuttle, the telescope is expected to operate without the need of major repairs for at least 10 years.

Ideas of space ship observatories and flying telescopes have intrigued the human imagination ever since Galileo devised a working telescope.

Used Flying Island

In 1726 the Irish author and satirist, Johnathan Swift, wrote about the flying island of Laputa, a base for observations of the moons of Mars. Laputa was essentially an orbiting astronomical space station.

The Russian rocket and space travel dreamer, Konstantin Tsiolkovsky, wrote nearly 100 years ago: "To step out onto the soil of asteroids, to lift with your hand a stone on the moon. . .to land on (Martian) satellites and even on the surface of Mars--what could be more extravagant!

"However, it is only with the advent of reactive vehicles that a new and great era in astronomy will begin, the epoch of a careful study of the sky. . ."

More than 50 years ago the German rocket pioneer, Herman Oberth, whose childhood fancies had been inspired by the tales of Jules Verne, published an influential book called "Rocket into Interplanetary Space." He pointed out all the major advantages of an astronomical telescope in orbit.

Indeed, the telescope may prove truth much wilder than fiction. Many scientists are convinced that it may be the instrument that once and for all proves or disproves that life exists far beyond the solar system.

KC Contest Held In Killeen

Regional competition of the Knights of Columbus annual free throw contest was held in Killeen at the Killeen Community Center Feb. 26.

Boys and girls from the area represented their districts. Five youngsters from Cameron local council 2338 represented this district.

They included Robert Hudson, David Hall, Denise Kelle, Jim Bailey, Kay Jones.

Three of these will advance to state. They are Robert Hudson, David Hall, and Denise Kelley.

The state competition is scheduled for March 26 at San Antonio on the campus of St. Mary's University.

Yoemen Secure Third; Whip Rockdale 13-0

The Cameron Yoemen made a comeback Saturday afternoon defeating the Rockdale Tigers to take the third place spot in the Rockdale Tournament.

The Yoemen wrapped up the game in less than seven innings as they led the Tigers 13-0 at the end of four innings the game being called as a result of the ten run rule.

The Yoemen dented the scoreboard five times in the second inning. With two outs it looked as if the Yoemen would take the field with no score but the Yoemen had different ideas as Ronnie Orsag led off with a single followed by Sydney Youngblood and Albert Hanel who both managed to draw walks, loading the bases, Joe Reyes then hit to left field, the left fielder dropping the ball and Reyes talling two RBI's as Orsag and Youngblood crossed the plate for the Yoemen. With Hanel and Reyes on base, Steven Hollas stepped to the plate and swatted a three run homerun to give the Yoemen five.

The fourth inning proved to be the big one for the Yoemen as they batted around, scoring eight runs to win the game and the third place title.

Gerry Heitman was the winning pitcher for the Yoemen, letting only two Rockdale players on base all day, one of which he picked off after allowing him the base.

Heitman and Joe Reyes were two all tournament picks in the tourney.

The Yoemen open their home schedule this Friday facing Whitewright beginning at 2 p.m. The first game will be seven innings while the second will be a 5 inning bout. Coach Roy Knight urges all Yoemen supporters to "come on out and watch the Yoemen." The game is to be held in the new baseball park and all spectators are urged to back the Yoemen and bring their lawn chairs as the bleachers for the new park are still under construction and may not be completed by game time.

Yoe Tracksters To Compete At Midway

Cameron will be among AA schools competing in the Panther Relays to be held this Saturday at the new Midway High School Athletic Complex, and expected to be one of the featured track meets in Texas.

Top AAA and AA teams from all over the state will compete against schools their own size in this two-division meet.

The complex boasts an 8-lane Resilite track each 42" wide, Gill hurdles, Pro-Pit vaulting and high-jump pits, Resilite approaches for the high jump, long jump, and pole vault; aluminum seats where every event may be seen at the same time and an electric scoreboard to keep fans informed about event times.

There is plenty of paved parking and two concession stands to round out the complex's key features.

Field events will begin at 10:30 a.m., running prelims at 1 p.m. and finals at 6 p.m. Admission is 75¢ for adults and 50¢ for students for the morning and afternoon session and $1 for adults and 50¢ for students for the finals

AA Division teams include: Bellville, Bastrop, Caldwell, Cameron, Elgin, Hearne, Hillsboro, Mart, McGregor, Mexia, Rockdale, Robinson, Rosebud-Lott, West and Midway JV, Reicher.

AAA Division teams include: Belton, Brenham, Brownwood, DeSoto, Ennis, Gatesville, Jefferson-Moore, Midway, Marlin, Round Rock, Taylor, Waco High, Waxahachie, Austin Westlake, and Fort Worth Trinity Valley.

ATTENTION

Any person interested in entering a team in the Cameron Men's slow pitch softball league please call 697-6044 or 697-3629 after 5:30 p.m. A meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, March 15 at 7:30 p.m. at the Yoe Field House.

PUBLIC NOTICE

I would like to thank the Senior Citizens of the Community Action Center for donating their time and services, quilting and knitting and all kinds of needlework. Some of those who helped were: Mrs. Lillie Tindall, Mrs. Hattie Broden, Mrs. Agnes Tepera, Mrs. Amanda Crook, Miss Mary Carleton, Mrs. A. H. Halberdier, Mrs. Raymond Dees.

Also Mrs. Parlina Whiteside, Miss Modene Gregory, Charlie Worchester and Paul Elmore.

We have a quilt on display in J. C. Penney's window. We will sell the quilt by chances to bring some extra money into the center to buy supplies.

The raffle will be held Friday, April 8. The tickets will go on sale Monday, March 7 at the Community Action Center. The chances are three for $1.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF HEARING BEFORE THE TEXAS WATER RIGHTS COMMISSION OF AN APPLICATION TO APPROPRIATE PUBLIC WATERS OF THE STATE OF TEXAS
No. 3750

Notice is given that J. K. Stuart, P.O. Box 72, Cameron, Texas 76520, applicant seeks a permit to do the following:

(1) maintain an existing dam and on-channel reservoir, designated Reservoir No. 1, on an unnamed tribuary of Big Elm Creek, tributary Little River, tributary Brazos River, Brazos River Basin, to impound therein not to exceed 240 acre-feet of water and to divert there from not to exceed 112 acre-feet of water per annum for industrial purposes (dairy barn flushing) and for irrigation of 80 acres of applicant's land in the Sterling C. Robertson Survey, Abstract No. 51, Milam County, 2 1/2 miles NW of Cameron, Texas; and

(2) impound in an existing off-channel reservoir, designated Reservoir No. 2, not to exceed 69 acre-feet of water to be diverted from Reservoir No. 1.

The dam which forms Reservoir No. 1 is located in the Sarah Wilhelm Survey, Abstract No. 69, Milam County, and the midpoint of the dam at the stream is 62 degrees W, 1340 feet from the E corner of the aforesaid survey.

The levee which forms Reservoir No. 2 is located in the aforesaid Sterling C. Robertson Survey, and the S corner of the levee is S 48 degrees W, 120 feet from the N corner of the William W. Lewis Survey, Abstract No. 30, Milam County.

Applicant seeks authority to divert water by means of one stationary pump which is S 71 degrees W, 1360 feet from the corner said Sarah Wilhelm Survey. Waste water produced by the flushing operation is piped by gravity to a sump and them pumped to Reservoir No. 2 for disposal by evaporation and irrigation use, all being more fully set out in the application.

Application No. 3750 was accepted for filing pursuant to 5.121, Texas Water Code, and Rules 129.02.05.001 through 129.02.70.008, on February 28, 1977 and a hearing thereon will be held by the Commission in the Stephen F. Austin State Office Building at 1700 N. Congress Avenue in Austin, Texas, on April 20, 1977 at 10 o'clock a.m. Those opposing the granting of said application may appear at the hearing and/or, at least five days before the hearing date, may file written protests with the Commission and serve copies on the applicant by certified mail, return receipt requested, or by attorney's affidavit. Written protests must contain the name and address of the applicant, an allegation of potential injury of the protestant, the basis of protestant's claim of right and the location of protes-

TJC Program SPJST Gives Check For

Temple Junior College has received a check for $300 from the SPJST Supreme Lodge for use in support of the Czech language program.

The money is to be used for partial scholarships for students studying Czech and for the improved instruction, promotion, and enrichment of Czech classes, club, and cultural programs.

Calvin Chervenka, coordinator for Czech courses, said the Czech program at TJC includes study of the language as well as Czech cultural heritage. TJC was the first junior college in the state to offer Czech as a foreign language. Czech has been offered on a regular basis at TJC since 1967. A series of four semesters of Czech study are available.

Czech language instructor at TJC is James Mendl.

SPJST annually makes a contribution to the TJC Czech program but this year the donation was increased to $300.

More Public Works Monies For Texas

More federal money for public works programs should soon be available to Texas, says a resource development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Passage of new legislation is virtually assured by early March that would make an additional $120 million available to Texas cities and other public entities that have unemployment greater than 6.5 percent," points out Jack Jones.

"This money would be a part of an additional $4 billion to be authorized nationally to cities, counties, and other special purpose public bodies with high unemployment."

Texas already received some $60 million from the Economic Development Administration in January that funded public works programs in 59 Texas cities, counties, and special districts under the Public Works and Employment Act of 1976.
